We have never been abroad, but it has always been our bigsted belief that when we took to verce* the advertising profession lost out. Which we told Alf Knopf. fession lost out. Which we told Alf Knopf. And he said "This is on me." So here goes. Morrieturi salutamus! . . And thanks for the ad. Alf.

Louis Sherwin, whose centaur story hids fair to take the place held by F. P. A.'s piccolo-player, is out in Hollywood but hasn't lost his critical insight. Said Lou of the volume*: "As joyous as a fatal accithe volume*: "As joyous as a fatal accident to a rich relative."

The Newark News says: "Mr. Ryskind is at his best when writing songs to lovely ladies who probably never existed." That is a relative clause we hurl down the false teeth of the News. In Alf Knopf's secret archives are the photographs, addresses and telephone numbers of every lovely lady mentioned in the book."

Among those who have said nice things about the poems* we find Louis Untermeyer. Douglas Fairbanks, The Cleveland Press, the Literary Review of the New York Evening Post, the Prescott (Ariz.) Journal-Miner, and the Columbia Varsity. You can't fool all of the people all the time, as somebody told us only last night, but we seem to have done fairly well.

Not that opinion about the book* is unanimous. Prof. Broun, one of the foremost writers on eugenics in the country, makes the point that we are not a father.

Hardly a legitimate issue to raise, Hey wood, MORRIE.

Guest of Honor at Dinner Given by Americans in Japan in the Evening

YOKOHAMA, April 26 (By The Ac sociated Press) .- The American steamship Wenatchee, bringing Major General Leonard Wood to Japan on his way to the Philippines, arrived here at 6:30 o'clock this evening in tow of the steamship Edmore, after a series of mishaps to her machinery. The Wenatchee some days ago was forced to send out calls for aid and the Edmore went to her assistance.

General Wood, at the height of the irritating mishaps, addressed the passengers in the salon and his calming words soothed them and removed their fears. The trouble to the Wenatchee which, according to the passengers and officials of the steamship company, resulted from undersized and ill-adapted pumps feeding the boilers, and from leaky pipes through which salt water reached and clogged the turdays out of Seattle. The trouble continued, and the Wenatchee was stopped entirely for repairs, but still the engines failed to work properly. On the
